

Graeco-Roman Influences in Irish Visual and Material Culture

Classics Ireland 30, Special Issue
(forthcoming 2024)

Edited by Ciarán Rua O'Neill and Isabelle Torrance

Contents

Graeco-Roman Influences in Irish Visual and Material Culture: Introduction (Ciarán Rua O'Neill and Isabelle Torrance)

Roman Cultural Influence in Early Medieval Ireland: Some Evidence from Fine Metalwork (Griffin Murray)

Rome in Stone: Classicism in Medieval Irish Sculpture and Architecture (Rachel Moss)

Marshalling Classicism in Ireland's Interests: Two Revolutionary Landscapes, 1690 and 1916 (Finola O'Kane)

Graeco-Roman Source Material in the Work of Eighteenth-Century Irish Patinters and Draughtsmen in Italy (Nicola Figgis)

'Four years, winter and summer, in the chilling Capitoline museum': Irish Sculpture and Classical Antiquity in the Late Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries (Paula Murphy)

The Reception of Greek and Roman Antiquities in Ireland: Eighteenth- and Nineteenth Century Museum Collections and The Naturalist's Companion by Kenhelm Henry Digby (1810-1819) (Lynda Mulvin)

Living Allegories: 'Hibernicising' Women in Irish Visual Culture, c. 1801-1851 (Ciarán Rua O'Neill)

The Creation of Tradition in the Free State: Prizes, Pageantry, and Classical Influences (Jack Quin)

Representing Oedipus and his Family: Visual and Material Politics in Irish Productions (Isabelle Torrance)

Twilight of the Gods? Classical Mythology and Motifs in Contemporary Irish Art (Robert O'Byrne)